Sunday, July 17,

for an all-music

Fiona Coughlin.

*Do you think
you see something
that will help
the church
grow?*

*Do you want
to be more active in the church, but you're not sure you have the time or skills?*

Here's an opportunity to be involved with a simple and very important assignment that may not only help NCCC but other churches in West Akron as well.

See "Help Wanted Needed" on page 2.

IMPORTANT CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

Please pray about and plan to attend a very important congregational meeting, which will be held Sunday, July 24, following morning service. The Committee on Ministry has given NCCC a green light to move forward in the process of finding a new pastor. During this meeting we will elect members of the Pastoral Nominating Committee.

HELP WANTED-NEEDED

For the past year, the Akron Cohort for Adaptive and Innovative Ministry has been working to develop strategies, which will help Presbyterian churches grow. As part of that process, they are asking each church to form a Faithful Innovation Team, which will do some investigative work during the summer, “map the ministry.” Each team will walk through the surrounding neighborhoods and pay special attention to things like:

Who and what they see?

Where people gather and what are they doing?

What are the significant elements (natural and built) in the area?

You don't have to have the answers to any of those questions to want to help. This is meant to be a simple exercise that will help us dive into some fundamentals that may need to be addressed. And, because you will be working as a team, this is time to unite with church members, literally outside of church.

If you are interested, please contact Tom or Hal.
